Namita Gokhale, William Dalrymple, Sanjoy K. Roy, The Royal Opera House Mumbai and Avid Learning proudly present the Mumbai Preview - ZEE Jaipur Literature Festival 2019, an evening of music, debate and discussion, celebrating the spirit of Jaipur right here in Mumbai! The evening will feature the directors of this prestigious festival, who will give us a teaser of the various exciting programmes lined up for the main event in Jaipur in January 2019.

This year marks our sixth year collaborating with the Jaipur Literature Festival and is a continuation of our long-standing association with the festival. AVID works with festival platforms across the arts and literature and we believe that the Jaipur Literature Festival shares many sister concerns and passions for the future trajectory of literature in India and the world and are proud to partner with this venerable institution of the contemporary literary world. AVID finds synergy with its aims to make literature inclusive, educational and accessible whilst maintaining rigour and depth. It has become somewhat of a tradition to host this iconic festival's Mumbai curtain raiser, which we have done for a few years now and present panel discussions at the main event in Jaipur.

The Royal Opera House, Mumbai provides a unique platform in the city for people to encounter the breadth of the performing and visual arts and is now rapidly becoming a preferred venue within the festival circuit. To truly be a cultural hub, means to work closely with Festival Platforms. Last year, the Royal Opera House held the Mumbai Preview of the 2018 Jaipur Literature Festival and has also hosted curtain raisers and cultural events for other major festivals.
